

This week, we have really delved deep into our writing unit which is based on Harry Potter and the Philosopher's stone. We will be writing an informal letter to someone at home and using some key vocabulary from the books (and films!) to make it sound like we really go to Hogwarts.

In maths, we have been exploring 2d shapes and angles and using our existing knowledge to help us find the length of missing sides and size of missing angles.

Our exploration of art continued with the work of Paula Rego and her storytelling, surrealist paintings. He had a go at creating some of our own 'story paintings' and then let our partner write a story about the image we created!

We learnt all about the difference between the geocentric and heliocentric model of the solar system in Science and are even learning to describe the solar system in Spanish lessons, too!

Mrs Good