

We are now into our second week back after half term, and it has been great to see everyone settled back into routines and working hard in class.

In English, we have continued reading No Ballet Shoes in Syria, getting deeper into the text and developing our understanding of the characters. In Maths, we have been focusing on division, including long division (which can be tricky!) and dividing decimals. In Science, we have been learning about vertebrates and enjoyed going on a bug hunt to explore living things in our environment. For our Project work, we have been learning about the Tropic of Cancer, the Tropic of Capricorn and the different hemispheres. In Computing, we have been working on Project Evolve, thinking carefully about digital citizenship.

We have checkpoints next week, and we know everyone will do a great job!
